

Vintage Soft Anilina

Vintage Collection consists of a collection of colors and qualities in aniline leather. The hides are through-coloured and have a natural skin surface with a lot of deep and natural color changes. Neck folds, visible insect bites and scars of healed wounds contribute to the natural character of the leather. The skins are processed to get the right and genuine look, making each skin unique with its modern and slightly worn look. With such genuine products, therefore, color deviations from the sample collection item are inevitable. The skin has a very soft and pleasant feeling and a fantastic breathability. Its natural character makes it sensitive to stains and dirt and the skin is affected and changes when used. Marks and changes in the surface will occur, but it belongs to the skin as a product and contributes to the fact that over the years it gives a nice patina and character.
